NUMBER 42

COURT SESSION FINISHED FRIDAY

MILLIKIN ACQUITTED. MARKER AND WELLS CONVICTED

It took four and a half days to finish the work of the Circuit Court at this October session. Three jury trial cases consumed a large part of the time when many witnesses were sworn and much testimony taken.

The case against C. H. Marker for assault was reported in our last week's edition. The jury modified the charge to simple assault. The offense was against John Malco and arose over matters pertaining to the occupancy of the Malco farm which was sold by the latter to Mr. Marker. Both put up strong testimony to back their motives and actions, but the jury, judging from their verdict, concluded that the offense should be modified as stated above. Mr. Malco claims to have been stabbed and cut nine times with a pocket knife. The defendant was fined $75 and $25 costs.

The jury acquitted Frank Millikin of a statutory charge and his case was dismissed.

Roy Wells was pronounced guilty of violation of the prohibition law and sentenced to Jackson prison for a term of from six months to one year, with the recommendation of one year.

Silas Barney pleaded guilty to violation of the prohibition law and had to pay a fine of $100 and $25 costs.

Lyle McLean, as reported in the Avalanche last week, pleaded guilty to a statutory offense and was sentenced to Ionia prison for from ten to twenty years. This may appear to be a severe sentence for a youngster of only 17 years, but the fact that this was the second time he had faced Judge Smith and pleaded guilty to a similar charge and also because of the fact that he had been convicted in court six times during his few years of existence, proved his value to the society of others was nil and his presence offensive. Under those conditions it appears he deserved the sentence imposed.

In case of Howard Weller for violation of the prohibition law, he pleaded guilty, but his sentence was postponed until the next term of court.

In the case of Hattie B. Moshier vs. Stella Archambeau for trespass on the case, a verdict by default was given the plaintiff of $350. The defendant failed to appear for trial. This case was tried about a year ago and the jury disagreed. The plaintiff charged that the defendant damaged her auto when she struck it with a car she was driving, claiming excessive speed. The accident occurred at the corner of Peninsular avenue and Ogden street.

In the mandamus case of Augustus Funck vs. Fred Hartman, trustee of a South Branch school district, the petition of the plaintiff was denied and the case dismissed. This was a case in which Mr. Funck tried to compel the holding of school in his district in which there was but one child of school age. Although the child was 14 years of age the township offered to pay $1.00 per day for the transportation of the child to another district, about four and one-half miles. The offer was declined, in accordance to the testimony submitted.

The divorce case of Myrtle M. Ross vs. Henry Ross was continued.

A decree was granted in the case of Mildred C. Sackrider vs. Harold Sackrider.

Also a decree was granted in the divorce case of Myrtle Turner vs. Verne Turner. Also in the case of Nellie Nelson vs. Albert Nelson a decree was granted.

South Branch Unit School District vs. Susan Funck, bill to quiet title, was dismissed.

At this session also, Albert Vallad, a witness in the Marker-Malco case, was fined $5.00 for contempt of court, when he did not adjourn to the jury room with the rest of the witnesses.

This concluded the longest session of Circuit Court that has been held in Crawford county in many years. The session was formally closed Friday afternoon.

MRS. STEPHAN WRITES LOG OF AUTO TRIP

Herewith is a very interesting narrative written by Mrs. John Stephan, Sr., to her family here. Mrs. Stephan, with her son Lacey, left Grayling on September 28th on a trip west by auto. We are sure our readers will enjoy reading it.

September 28th, we left Grayling about 3:00 p. m., arrived at Mt. Pleasant 6:30 p. m., roads very bad, had to drive slow as far as Rosebush, then we went right along.

September 29th, left Mt. Pleasant about 10:00 a. m., drove to Concord in terrible rain most of way. Stopped raining long enough to get our tent up in free camp grounds on the banks of a lovely creek formed by three boiling springs which are under a rock shelf with natural stone steps down to the edge where the water is dipped up for use. A very old dilapidated cook stove under tin roof, about 6 x 6 ft. tables in open, lovely white oak trees. Our tent is under one, the trunk of which is more than six feet in circumference. Pretty little camp site but Grayling has it beaten. Couldn't buy any cream in this town either. Everyone has been very courteous and we are comfortable and happy.

September 30th, after hanging bedding out to dry, we had breakfast, took some pictures and finally got started from Concord at 10 o'clock. Had to pump up tires and look over maps; fine day, good roads, made one detour, lots of bridges have been washed out and many telegraph poles blown over into the road. Our camp was near a railroad track, and six usings heavy with freight, passed within thirty feet of our heads.

Tonight we are camped at the city of Fort Wayne camp ground on the Maumee, nothing like our lovely Au-Sable, not quiet. Six other camps besides ours, one set up within a few feet of us since we came. There are shower baths, stoves, tables, tents, tent, water, etc. Walked up town for exercise. So far everything fine.

October 1st, rain, rain, more rain. Broke camp in it, then sun shone long enough for us to photograph camp round. Left Fort Wayne 10:00 o'clock. Lots of washouts, detours. While on a detour a little Lizzie helped us to get into a ditch. A big Hudson helped us out. No damage, though we scraped the fence some. Lacey said, "Hang on." I looked up and we were almost in a pig wallow. We drove several hours. Raining like the leucue too. A crowd by that time. We drove 211 miles today, pavement when not on detour. Camping places often, but few with bath, so we came to Terre Haute. In some ways as good a camp as last night. No lights and more mud, red clay. We sure like our Pontiac, average 25 1/2 miles to gallon of gas, works fine. We got here 7:30 p. m. Hope it quits raining. Am writing in the open tonight. Little chilly, but not cold. Camped under a tree with bean pods on it, but hal!

October 2nd, beautiful sunrise directly in tent door: got picture. Drove 201 miles by speedometer. Are west of St. Louis. The bridge from East St. Louis to St. Louis is over the Mississippi. It is at least a mile long but river is actually about one-half mile. We could look down into the stockyards of Swift & Co. There had been a tornado here; it struck St. Louis right, tearing roofs and trees down. The road was full of bricks and everything for a long way. We had to scurry about like a scared cat. Brakes wet; pavements slippery. Lacey sweating. Oh! What fun! There was a thrill in it.

October 3rd, beautiful morning; got picture of cabin. Have had a wonderful day. Sky blue as indigo with fleecy white clouds. Beautiful scenery; took pictures on top of Ozarks, also bluffs on Piney river roads. Some of the best of pavement, all good, some rough, none muddy; some places in cuts just wide enough for two cars; with high red, real red clay banks; hills with colored leaves; fields of golden rod. Some roads are blasted level, all winding. I shall always remember this day. Saw one old pioneer cabin with fireplace on end outside, still in use. Are at camp Joy at Lebanon, Missouri. Drove 173 miles. Ate lunch in Cuba. Spent $7.72, had oil changed, springs greased. Nine gallons gas averaged 19 1/3 miles to gallon; lots of grades. Milk was 15 cents today, 19 cents yesterday. Lacey looks hard but he can't find any pretty girls to compare with those at home.

Tuesday, October 4th. Lovely morning. Got picture of cabin and grounds. Been a long day. Saw one river at flood height, full of debris. While yet in Missouri we saw some cattle being driven in to Lebanon, by cowboys. While passing through the southeast corner of Kansas we saw the river in flood. We are in Oklahoma at Vinita, pronounced Vinitaw. Nothing very noteworthy, only we haven't seen a tree only those around dwellings for at least 50 miles. No place to put up tent, so we are in a cabin on a privately owned place. They are not so plentiful either as they have been lots of money for someone. The fences are even supported by crooked limbs or sticks. Lots of cattle and Indians. Ground very level as far as eye can see. Saw some mines; don't know what they all were, but some were lead, another was iron. The dirt they have removed from them is in great mountains. Some has been used to make the road. Road has been fair—paved, gravelled, some very rough, none muddy, lots of dust today. Spent $4.05. Thirteen gallons of gas covered 217 miles. No rain today.

I must tell you about leaving my hat. We stopped at Miami to eat our lunch back of a filling station on the banks of a creek. You can't get out anywhere because you can't park on road, and there is either a fence or a ditch, so we get out wherever we can. Well, I hung my hat on the left front bumper and forgot all about it, until we had gone about one-half mile, so we went back to look for it. An old man with a week's whiskers and tobacco juice had picked it up and was strutting around with it on, pulled down to the end of his nose. There was another carload there from Michigan, and how we laughed. He didn't expect us back, of course, and he looked so foolish. It was so funny; Lacey sits here now laughing. There is nothing wild or hard so far. Anyone can do it and no trouble. Everything marked.

October 5th. Lovely morning, nice day, windy and very dusty. Though everything has been flooded lately. Rivers and lakes are red, the roads are red, and we were red. We had a bath which is free with cabin, which cost us $1.00. Road sometimes very rough. You never saw anything like it when wet. I don't see how they get a car over them. You see rock is so near the surface that it comes out with you and the wind blows the dust away; you have left holes. There are even buses that go every few hours since we left St. Louis. Whether they go farther than Oklahoma City, will tell you later. We passed zinc, coal and lead mines, hundreds of oil wells and acres after acres of cotton, today. Passed several loads on the road, and saw negroes picking some. Passed some genuine cowboys, also two Franklin cars. No trouble with car or anything. It rained the road a few times and made us hold our breath. We are just north of Oklahoma City tonight. The wind is balmy like it is home once in a great while.

all right. Raining like everything, too. They were still taking out dead bodies, 90 known dead to-date. We are at a tourist's camp in a cottage, didn't put up tent as things were soaked and clay mud everywhere. Cost us $3.99 today for gas, oil, eats and cottage.

Dear Ones: We are well but tired, and Lacey, I fear, has a cold coming on. Going to bed soon.

THE JAY TOBIAS COMPANY
FIRST NUMBER ON REDPATH LYCEUM COURSE
Jay Tobias has often been called the funniest man since Bill Nye. Everything he does is funny. He has an established reputation as a leader in clean, original fun and humor.

It is extremely difficult to describe his work. He could be called an entertainer, or perhaps a humorist. These terms are not apt, for Tobias is so much more than this. His fun is uproarious. He draws characterizations with wide sweeps. He is a comedian—the kind that stops the show and takes encore after encore.

Tobias plays the piano and accordion. He uses both instruments as an additional means of depicting comedy. He is a reader, entertainer, comedian, character artist and general fun-maker. He will also assist pianist-singer, who will also assist him in sketch work.

This number will take place at the Michelson Memorial church, Wednesday evening, October 26th. Don't miss it.

ANNUAL MEETING DEVELOPMENT BUREAU, OCT. 27
Featuring the annual business meetings of the North Eastern Michigan Development Bureau and the East Michigan Tourist Association, which will be held in Bay City, October 27, will be discussions on a number of subjects of vital interest to the members of both organizations and to residents of East Michigan. Authorities on these subjects, some with a wide reputation, will lead the discussions.

Last Thursday night a "Pep" meeting was held in the high school auditorium. Interesting speeches were given by Prof. B. E. Smith, T. P. Peterson, Fr. Culligan, F. R. Welsh, Miss Hood and Mr. Cushman. Amos Hunter acted as chairman. A good crowd was present.

Freshman—"What do they mean when they say, 'A college education is higher knowledge?'"
Senior—"They say that because it's way above your head."

The Senior dance date is set for December 2nd. Watch for further announcements.

Mr. Smith—"Now this plant belongs to the begonia family."

Miss Lee—"Gerald, will you tell me what a conjunction is, and compare a sentence containing one?"

Gerald H. (after reflection)—"A conjunction is a word connecting anything, such as 'The horse hitched to the fence by his halter.' Halter is a conjunction because it connects the horse and the fence."

Dr. Thaddeus L. Bolten, head of the department of psychology, Temple University, states that cows, horses, monkeys, and dogs laugh, and that smiling is a cultured or refined form of laughter in man.

The really happy man of today never laughs, declares Professor F. Aveling, University of London psychologist. Laughter is an ugly mask indulged in only by the 'superior' or discontented man, according to the professor. But smiles, he says, are beautiful, as marks of human sympathy and understanding in a heart that is at peace with itself and all the world.

TEACHERS GUESTS OF SCHOOL BOARD AND G. F. CLUB

The gymnasium was the scene of a very pretty affair Friday evening when the Good Fellowship club, assisted by the school board, entertained for the teachers of our public schools.

The decorations, while simple, were very effective and gave the gymnasium a cheerful and cozy appearance. Mrs. H. A. Bauman was chairman of this committee.

At the head of the receiving line, which formed at the east end of the gymnasium, were M. A. Bates and Supt. and Mrs. B. E. Smith, the remainder of the line being made up of the teachers of the different departments.

Immediately following the reception proper, a short but very delightful program consisting of a solo by Miss Marie Schmidt, a duet by Mrs. Roy Milnes and Mrs. Frank Tetu, accompanied by Mrs. C. G. Clippert, and a solo dance by Audrey Hewitt was given. All these numbers were very well received.

Harold McNeven and his newly organized orchestra furnished the music for the dancing, and the floor was filled with a happy crowd throughout the remainder of the evening.

Coffee and cake were served buffet style from one corner of the room from a table centered with a silver basket filled with white asters. Mrs. C. Tremble poured, Mrs. Marius Hanson being in charge of this part of the affair.

These delightful occasions have been in vogue in Grayling for several years and are looked forward to with interest by many each year, but the object is lost unless the attendance is made up generally of the parents of the children and patrons of our schools.

It is a privilege and pleasure to meet and become acquainted with those with whom our youth come in contact daily, and it is hoped by those sponsoring these affairs that the real incentive for which these occasions were created will be kept stimulated by the presence of the older as well as younger people.

A Thought for the Week
No sickness and no death would mean human life having no sympathy and no tenderness.

"If none were sick and none were sad, What service could we render? I think if we were always glad, We scarcely could be tender. Did our beloved never need, Our patient ministrations, Earth would grow cold, and miss, indeed Its sweetest consolation.

If sorrow never claimed our heart, And every wish was granted, Patience would die and hope depart— Life would be disenchanted.

One is always being reminded of the old Japanese couplet— "The unpolished pearl can never shine; 'Tis sorrow makes the soul divine."

"Does your wife ever pay you any compliments?" asked Bob of his brother.

"Only in the winter," was the reply. "In the winter? How do you mean?"

"When the fire gets low, she says, 'Alexander, the grate!'"—Exchange.

CELEBRATE 36TH ANNIVERSARY

Last evening Grayling Chapter of the Eastern Star celebrated the thirty-sixth anniversary of the organization of Grayling Chapter, No. 83, with a birthday party at the Chapter rooms. A very large attendance was present, numbering visitors from Detroit, Saginaw, Bay City, Wolverine, Gaylord, Frederic and Roscommon.
 One charter member, Mrs. M. A.
 Bates, was present and one birthday cake was in her honor, another being in honor of the Chapter's birthday.
 Mrs. Rae Kramer of Gaylord, a Past Grand officer, was an honored guest and seated in the East. Initiatory work was exemplified by Fidelity Chapter of Roscommon in a very beautiful manner.

After a delicious supper served in the dining room Melvin A. Bates, Worthy Patron, acted as toastmaster in his usual pleasing manner, calling on Mrs. Rae Kramer and Mr. Dela-Mater of Gaylord; Worthy Matron
 Mrs. Harley Williams, Dr. C. C. Curnalia and Earl Dutton, Fidelity Chapter No. 60 of Roscommon and Worthy Matron, Augusta Walt, of Grayling Chapter.

Mrs. L. J. Kraus and children, Jack and Elizabeth Anne and Mrs. Fred Welsh and daughter Gail left this noon by motor to spend the vacation days in the southern part of the state.

HOSPITAL GRADUATES
CLASS OF NURSES

EXERCISES HELD AT SCHOOL

Three young ladies, Miss Fedora Montour, Miss Ellen Johnson and Miss Eva Hendrickson, having completed the three years training at the Grayling Mercy Hospital Training School for nurses, last night received their diplomas in the presence of a large gathering of friends.

The exercises were held in the high school auditorium and we doubt whether the stage had looked more beautiful. The class colors of blue and gold were nicely displayed in the motto they had chosen, "Faithful to the End," which together with a banner with the wording "Mercy Hospital," found conspicuous places on the wall. Large baskets of yellow chrysanthemums and other flowers of yellow hue were gracefully arranged, and with the graduates in their snow-white uniforms and caps, made a pretty setting. Also the presence of a number of reverend gentlemen, the Sisters of the Hospital and the class of student nurses added much dignity to the occasion.

The program began at 8:00 o'clock,
 Melvin A. Bates acting as chairman.
 Following a selection by the orchestra
 Mr. Bates introduced Rev. J. Wilfred Greenwood, pastor of the Melson Memorial church, who in his pleasing manner gave the address of welcome.

This was followed by another selection by the orchestra and then Rev. J.
 P. Westdorp of Grand Rapids, who was the principal speaker of the evening, gave the address to the nurses, paying them a fine tribute.
 Mrs. C. G. Clippert and Miss Marie
 Schmidt then sang a beautiful duet,
 "The Silver Moon," taken from the opera, "Maryland My Maryland," following which Rev. Joseph Culligan spoke a few words and made the presentation of diplomas. The next on the program was the Bedtime song, by Nevin, which was nicely rendered by a ladies' quartette, composed of Mrs. Clippert, Mrs. Roy Milnes, Mrs.
 Frank Tetu and Miss Schmidt. The final was a selection by the orchestra.
 During the reception which followed, the graduates stood in line and received the hearty congratulations of many friends, and refreshing punch was served by three young ladies to all who wished it.

Miss Montour is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Montour.
 She was born in Grayling and is a graduate of Grayling high school of the class of '24. Miss Johnson resides in Roscommon and Miss Hendrickson is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hendrickson of this city.
 She too is a graduate of Grayling high school.
 Sister M. Theodora, formerly of Grayling Mercy hospital, and Sister
 M. Fidelis, the latter who is superintending of nurses at St. Mary's hospital, Grand Rapids, came to attend the graduation exercises, accompanied by Miss Fouchman. Also Misses Lucy Otterbecher and Gladys Edge-comb of Grand Rapids came to attend the exercises, being guests of Misses Montour and Johnson.

Health News

(By Country Nurse)

A good health slogan is: "Let's make health fashionable."

The real health education is healthy children. Probably no field of education within the last few years has shown more originality and vitality and progress than that of health education.

Experiments have been made not only by individual teachers but by groups of teachers on a large scale. In this pioneer field certain methods, ideals and principles have earned merited approval. Health is not a goal; it's a long walk.

The formation of a habit requires a considerable repetition and a long time, under the most favorable circumstances.

Our health is due to our habits of living. Every person is requested to give yourself a birthday present and carry a health certificate by actions, healthy motives and evidences of a healthy (sound) person.

There are 10 evidences of a healthy person:

1. Sense of well being; abundant energy and pleasure in movement; not conscious of vital body organs, which function properly.
2. Reasonable amount of work or play.
3. Appetite steady and wholesome.
4. Weight up to the standard according to height and age.
5. Sleeps well.
6. Has friends, hobbies and games.
7. Interested in surroundings and anxious to understand them.
8. Companionable, mingles, cooperates as leader or follower.
9. Feels responsibility for happiness of others.
10. Expects successes and gets them frequently.

After weighing the school children for the second month and correlating their gain with their regularity of school life to vacation days, I know again another proof that regular habits of living are most essential for the health of the child. A few failed to gain and some even lost weight, but those who did lose in weight were reported absent because of a cold or other sickness which prevented their usual rate of gain.

The Junior Red Cross prepared ten boxes for Christmas to foreign lands. They are quite anxious to know what boy or girl will get their gifts.

Every grade is a member of the Junior Red Cross in Grayling school. I hope interest will not lag for proper kind of work.

I still urge one-half pint of milk regular each day during school hours for further benefit of the child. Improvement in regular habits are noticed.

Farm Bureau Notes

R. D. Bailey, Co. Agricultural Agent

"Every time the farmer puts a poor quality product on the market he decreases the demand, reduces the consumption, and lowers the price."

Last Week
Last week we sent the following timely reminder to each Crawford County farmer:

Fall Plowing
One of the most valuable farm practices for us farmers in this region is fall plowing. It goes along with hill selection of seed potatoes in fall, culling hens, treating seed grain with formaldehyde, and seed potatoes with corrosive sublimate solution, selection and testing of seed corn, use of alfalfa, use of silos and use of good bulls in the farmer's plans to make profits.

We find that, in far too many cases, farmers do not accomplish much of value after corn is cut and potatoes are dug. Ask them a year later why they wintered so little stock or bought so much feed the previous winter, and far too often the answer is: "I did not get around to get in as big an acreage of crops last spring as I intended. Spring was pretty late, you know." "Didn't you get a good piece of plowing done the fall before?" "Naw, didn't get around to it." "What did you do all the fall to handle the few acres of corn and potatoes you had?" "Aw, I don't know where the time went. I just seemed to tinker the whole fall away, without much to show for it."

Many an energetic farmer does get a lot of fall plowing done, a lot of it. He plows every day until soil freezes so much nights that he cannot plow all day. Then he hauls manure all forenoon, and plows afterwards. Hammering away at it, he gets a lot of manure hauled, and a lot of plowing done.

By being a planner and a worker, he has raised more feed than some do, buys less feed, keeps more stock, feeds better, and makes more money. Such a man gets up a year's work after soil is permanently frozen, and hauls it on the early snows—everything in its proper time.

Learn While You Earn
The announcements for the short courses at our Agricultural College are out. They point to splendid short courses of highly practical subjects that can be taken by young men and young women whose money is quite limited, and who must work most of somewhere to prepare better, even though they have never finished high school, nor have gone no farther than the country school.

While the writer was once taking one of these short courses, there sat at his left a young man from Wayne county, young enough to be his son. On the other side sat a fine old farmer from Ottawa county, old enough to be the writer's father.

We all were taking the short course in dairying. Three generations of us! No one pays any attention there to your age, clothes or money.

At a farmers' meeting at Petoskey a few years ago, a lady arose, and with face beaming with joy told us that she was past seventy years of age and that she had just returned from taking one of the short courses in poultry at the College and that while there she had had one of the happiest times of her life.

Do Many Go?
Certainly; several hundred each year. It makes a great chance to improve and to get ahead, for those who did not have much education, and who must work most of the year.

How Do You Study?
You do not sit in a classroom and study as we did when we went to school. You go from your boarding place to the classroom, and there hear professors talk and see them demonstrate. You study things mostly, rather than books.

What Do You Get?
You get a lot for your money. The courses are "boiled down." You get the essence of the subject you are studying.

For instance, if you were taking the "Long" Short course in general agriculture, you would attend for sixteen weeks this winter and sixteen weeks next winter, and in that time get the substance of what others take four school years.

If you take the "Short" Short course in agriculture, you attend eight weeks one winter and complete the course by your own study in the very helpful things you will learn, for there are things for most farmers to learn, the same as it pays a person who wishes to be a good musician to take lessons, rather than to "pick it up by ear." "Training beats guess work."

Splendid courses are given in poultry. In one month a person gets an insight into the raising of baby chicks, proper feeding for growth, feeding for eggs, and many other points that increase profits in keeping hens, that those who are going by guesswork do not dream of.

A person who would go from here to the College, and take, say, the short course in dairying for ten weeks, would know more of the real ideas about successful dairying than he would know in ten years of blundering and going on the "cut and cover method." He would learn to use right ways, and what to avoid.

Look Them Over
Look over the list of short courses, printed above, and select one and determine to take one. Many of our young men and women can afford to break away, and to afford the little time and money a course will cost. There are farmers among us, men with families, who would "get along" faster if they "broke away" and took a course that would make them do better in farming all their lives.

Don't you notice that people in other lines study and train, from watchmakers to prize fighters; from typewriters to lawyers?

The head man in our agricultural college truly says:

"In the future the notably successful farmers must be prepared to do things a little different and a little better than the average. Conditions of production, harvesting, storing, marketing, farm finances, and home living have undergone a radical change in the recent past and these processes are bound to continue in the future. This means an ever increasing need for special training for the prospective farmer. No agencies offer such excellent opportunities for suitable training in a short space of time at minimum cost as the Short courses of the agricultural colleges. Michigan State College offers a variety of well balanced courses, study them carefully."—Robert S. Shaw, Dean of Agriculture.

Anyone wishing to go can secure valuable pointers on costs, what to study, rooms, what to do, from the county agent.

Make this winter count for something. I could point out young people in the county whom it would pay, and pay well, to borrow a hundred dollars and take a course that for each year of their lives would increase their earning powers more than the total cost of the course.

"No pains, no gains." "Early sow, early mow."

Who May Take These Courses
The short courses are open, without examination, to all men and women over sixteen years of age. This is a splendid chance for any young man or young woman to go usual speed. Trucks were unable to take care of the rush, and therefore the car-lot movement was much heavier than anticipated. The United States has 40.4 per cent of a normal crop of peaches this year. The Michigan pear crop improved late in the season, and a production of 17 per cent below last year is expected. However, the grape yield in Michigan now appears to be less than growers had expected earlier, but the sugar content is high.

GETTING AUTO READY FOR WINTER

"Motorists who begin now to consider the effects of Winter's rigorous conditions on their cars will have taken the longest step toward the prevention of these effects," says Frank A. Beard, president of the Automobile club of Michigan. Michigan who points out that many of the calls for emergency road service that come to the motor club have their start in the put-off attitude of the car owner.

"If the motorist begins to realize right now that he will need a battery that is in the best condition, that Winter makes its demands for special grades of oil and grease, that a change in gasoline may be advisable and that an anti-freeze is necessary and gives real study to the requirements, he will not have trouble this winter. Winter troubles come from slovenliness in car care. It is dimly in the car owner's consciousness that certain things should be done, but they do not come into the forefront of one's mind until the first bitter cold day has got in its disastrous effects.

"Now is the time to consider what anti-freeze one will use, to learn from the proper source just what grade of oil and grease is best for the temperatures in the area in which one lives, to find out whether the generator is set to supply the greater current that the battery needs, and generally to learn the condition of the car. Analysis of the emergency service records of this club, and others of the 929 that comprise the membership of the American Automobile Association, reveal that thousands of motorists do not seek this information until they have found themselves stalled, possibly with serious damage to the car.

"It is too early, of course, to act in all these matters, but it is not too early to get ready to act correctly when the time comes."

BUICK BREAKS SALES RECORDS

Increase Averages 4,000 Cars a Month over Same Period in 1926

Flint, Mich., Oct. 15—Buick sales since the introduction of new models in July have shattered all records in Buick history, C. W. Churchill, general sales manager of the Buick Motor Company, announced today. The July-August and September total this year is $2,985 cars, as compared with 70,941 cars sold during the corresponding period in 1926.

"The average monthly increase during the last three months, over the corresponding period in 1926, amounts to more than 4,000 cars," said Mr. Churchill. "This represents an average increase of 1500 cars a week, or considerably better than 100 a day."

"When it is recalled that these are retail sales figures, and not mere production totals, such a record seems to us highly significant. It means that the instantaneous public reception of the new Buicks was not a mere flash in the pan, but rather the forerunner of a sustained demand for Buicks all over the country, based on the recognition that here was such style, comfort and performance as best filled the public's conception of value in a motor car."

"How best can I trade in my present car for a new car?"

WHEN you are ready to trade in your present car for a new car, you naturally want full value for your present car. But most of all you want full new car value.

It will therefore pay you to consider varying trade-in allowance offers in the light of these basic facts:

- 1 Your present car has only one fundamental basis of value: i.e., what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.
- 2 Your present car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.
- 3 The largest allowance offered is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; sometimes it is not.
- 4 An excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.
- 5 First judge the merits of the new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh any difference in allowance offered on your present car.
- 6 Remember that you are making a purchase—not a sale. You are buying a new car and simply using your present car as a credit against the new car's purchase price.

SCHOOL NOTES

Laura L. London, Editor

High School

The services on Pioneer Day were opened with a prayer by Rev. Howard Goldie. The school sang "America" and "Michigan my Michigan," and Mr. Bradley, Mrs. Woodworth and Miss Florence Trombley each favored us with a solo. Mrs. Evans, sister of Mrs. Woodworth, was her accompanist.

The high school quartette sang "The Old Oaken Bucket," and Dr. O. Palmer gave us a fine address on the pioneers of Crawford county, telling us who were the first settlers, and when and where they built the first schoolhouses, which, of course, interested us very much.

The speaking was by the fourth and fifth grades. The room was full of visitors, but there is always room for one more, and we would like to see them come again.

Girls! Don't forget to bring your boxes, and boys, don't forget to come and buy them.

Fred Alexander, Axel Bekker and Sigwald Hanson visited us one day last week.

Miss Valera Woodfield also called on us one afternoon. We would like to have her here every day.

We hear that Esther Kraus intends to start to school again. We hope she will, for the more the better.

The seniors intend to have exercises with their social on Friday, October 17th. All are welcome, old folks as well as young.

The chemistry class made a blow pipe, but it resembled an old gun for it kicked when they least expected it.

Seventh Grade

The seventh grade have started on the percentage, and are getting on very nicely.

There is a boy in the seventh grade who has not had a mark below 100 this month—something unusual.

The boys and girls of the 7th grade stay after school and get help from Miss Dyer. But she says they have got to learn.

Fourth and Fifth Grades

The autumn leaves brought a number of our friends Pioneer Day. We wish they would visit us just the rainy days.

Our experiment with the candle, water and glass, showing how oxygen is taken from the air added much interest to our reading lesson on air.

Frances Benkelman brought a very pretty specimen of quartz from the U. P., showing very plainly the gold deposit.

BIGGER THAN GOVERNMENT

Rail transportation is a bigger business than that of the federal government, almost twice as big, in fact. In 1925, the government receipts were $3,780,148,684 with expenditures of some two hundred millions less, while the operating receipts of the Class I railroads totaled $6,122,509,350 and their operating expenses and taxes were slightly more than five billions.

In only one year has the government taken in as much money as did the railroads in 1925. That was in 1920, when federal receipts aggregated more than $6,700,000,000. In only four years have the government disbursements exceeded those of the railroads. In 1918 Uncle Sam spent almost nine billions; in 1919, when he was cleaning up war bills, the total was more than fifteen billions, in 1920 it exceeded six billions, and in 1921 it was more than $100,000,000 in excess of the railroads' total for 1925.

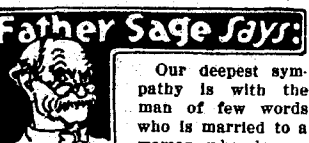

Odd Species of Worm

A species of worms which lives only in ice and cannot live when the ice around them melts has been discovered by a scientific expedition in the Olympic mountains. What they live on is a mystery, and although they have been photographed it has been impossible to get any of them out of the mountains alive.—Grit.

READJUSTMENTS

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

WE ARE, as I have often remarked, the slaves of habit, good or bad. The older we are the more difficult it is to readjust ourselves to new conditions, to take on new friends, and to be happy in new surroundings. Winter or summer, at work or during vacation, I awake at about the same hour, and try as I will I cannot long be contented. I must be up, and at something, it is a habit I learned, with difficulty I must admit, long ago on the farm, but having learned it, I am a slave to it. I want the same things for breakfast. Wherever I am, I am a little uneasy unless I am in my own chair. I am contented only when I have my old friends about me. And yet I know full well that one should learn to be and to do otherwise, for sooner or later readjustments will have to be made. Old friends will have to go; new conditions will arise; and the wise man will learn to make readjustments early in life.

Wilder is a bachelor who has always had means enough to live as he desired. He has always intended to marry, but he is past fifty now and he is afraid of the readjustments which he knows will be inevitable in his life if he takes on the responsibilities of married life. She might wait breakfast earlier or later than he has been accustomed to; she might not find his friends as agreeable as he finds them; she might even appropriate his favorite chair or insist upon its being replaced by a more artistic though less comfortable one. There is too much risk, and he will very likely drift on and die as he now is. Selfish you will say he is, but his habits are formed.

Gregory, though he is an old man, has just lost his mother. During his seventy years he has scarcely been separated from her. He has a wife and a family of his own and is a self-reliant and successful man, but there has always been mother to go to when he was depressed or in trouble or felt the need of sympathy. He is as completely lost as a child without her. He wanders about like a stranger in a strange land, not knowing what to do or where to go. He knew that the change must come, sooner or later, but he had not prepared himself for it. Fuller and his wife were inseparable. He was a shy man, who held himself in the background in social affairs. No one else could bring him out or put him in as good light as she could do. He quite sparkled when she was about, but without her he was silent, ill-at-ease, and not at his best. She died suddenly when still a young woman, but he could not make the readjustments necessary to a life without her. He was like a vessel drifting helplessly in a heavy sea. He followed her in a few months. He had never learned to make readjustments.

Slowing Up?

Waste Poisons in the Blood Make One Tired and Inefficient.

DO you feel lame and stiff? Drag through the day? Listless and depressed? Even find you all worn out? Have you given any thought to your kidneys?

Sluggish kidneys allow waste poisons to remain in the blood and make one tired and languid with often nagging backache, drowsy headaches and dizziness. A common warning of sluggish kidney action is scanty or burning secretions. Assist the kidneys with Doan's Pills. Doan's have been used since 1885. Are recommended the country over. SEED YIELD IS BEST FROM FIRST ALFALFA

State Farmers Secure Excellent Crop of Winter Hardy Alfalfa Seed

East Lansing, Oct. 17.—Although it is general practice for Michigan farmers to save the second crop of alfalfa for seed, the men who used the first cutting as a seed crop this year secured the best yields, according to a report from the farm crops department at Michigan State College.

Irving Reibling, Elkton, and George Rae, Bay City, secured yields of six bushels of seed to the acre from the first cutting of Hardigan alfalfa. These fields had been seeded for two years.

Alfred Volz, Sebawaing, harvested over 60 bushels of excellent Grimm alfalfa seed from a ten acre field that has been seeded five years. Mr. Volz won first premium at the Michigan State Fair on an exhibit of this seed.

Yields from the second cutting of alfalfa are averaging two bushels to the acre. The weather conditions this year have been abnormal, and it is possible that there would be less difference in yields between first and second cuttings during a normal year, according to the college specialists.

The production of alfalfa seed is said to be becoming a profitable source of income for many Michigan farmers.

A very handsome loving cup, suitably engraved is to be presented the winner, together with the honor of being the Grayling Golf club champion for the year 1927. Already plans are being made for next summer's tournament and a number have agreed to offer good prizes.

In giving the people of Grayling a one-cent sale, we wish to state that each and every article offered is worth the regular price and the second article for one cent means just the difference in the amounts is actual saving. Don't mistake this sale for one that is offering cheap-goods upon which we make a big profit. Each article is a standard quality such as you are able to buy at any Rexall store in the country. Read our advertisement in this paper and then make a list of the things you may want. The dates are Oct. 27, 28, 29. Mac & Gidley, Druggists.

WASHES, CARRIES COAL, WOMEN GAINS 18 POUNDS

"I wash, iron and carry coal and don't get tired since taking Vinol. Also, I have gained 18 pounds."—Mrs. S. Cortese.

Vinol is a delicious compound of cod liver peptone, iron, etc. Nervous, easily tired, anemic people are surprised how Vinol gives new pep, sound sleep and a BIG appetite. The very FIRST bottle often adds several pounds weight to thin children or adults. Tastes delicious.

The sensible way to deal with carbon is to correct the probable source of the condition... unsuitable gasoline and motor oil. If the gasoline you use contains "heavy ends" (greasy particles that seep past the piston unburned and dilute the crankcase oil) carbon is bound to form. If the motor oil lacks natural lubricating qualities and contains excess carbon, it will inevitably deposit excess carbon under engine heat.

By the exclusive use of Shell 400 "Extra Dry" Gasoline and Golden Clear Shell Motor Oil you can practically eliminate carbon troubles. Shell Gasoline is refined to 400° end point and is extra dry, free from slow-burning elements which dilute the crankcase oil. Shell Motor Oil is golden clear... contains almost no carbon and accordingly deposits almost none.

However, to use Shell Gasoline alone is not enough... incorrect motor oil will dissipate its extra power. To use Shell Motor Oil alone is not enough... poor gasoline will quickly dilute it and break down its lubricating abilities. (But the anti-carbon combination... Shell Gasoline and Shell Motor Oil... were made to go together... to work together in perfect harmony. Used together they bring out the best in your car and always deliver the utmost in speed, power and silent smoothness.

Why take chances with your car? Why run the risk of trouble, damage, repair bills and untimely depreciation... when the anti-carbon combination... 400 "Extra Dry" Shell Gasoline and Golden Clear Shell Motor Oil... are so conveniently available at Shell Yellow-Red Service Stations and Shell dealers everywhere?

The Senior class organized last Monday. The following officers were chosen:

President—Keith Forbush.
Vice President—Ralph Cline.
Secretary—Doris Corsaut.
Treasurer—Mary Bender.
Class Advisor—Mr. Hall.

The Seniors are working hard to make this a very happy and prosperous year.

Everyone enjoys the new method of conducting the morning exercises. Mr. Payne has charge on Monday and Friday, Mr. Hall on Tuesday, Mrs. Edmonds on Wednesday, and Miss Hawkes on Thursday.

The seventh and eighth grades have been organized into a Junior High department. This is the first year for this plan and so far it has been very successful.

A Sewing club for the girls has been organized, under the leadership of Miss Hawkes and Mrs. Edmonds. Many of the girls have taken advantage of this. Plans are being made to hold an exhibit of the work, sometime in April.

A Manual Training club for the boys has been organized under the leadership of Mr. Hall.

The high school "gym" class held their first meeting Thursday, Oct. 13. Many enjoyed showers afterward. The class is making rapid progress under the leadership of Miss Hawkes. They expect to organize a Junior and Senior basketball team.

Miss Osborne, of the Hurley hospital, Flint, gave a very interesting talk to the high school girls concerning the nursing vocation. A number of the girls have shown interest in this.

Miss Elsie Burke, graduate of the class of '27, and Mr. Gordon Ackley of Toledo, Ohio, visited the high school Friday afternoon. Visitors are always welcome in any of our classes.

Heard in Class
Doris (in physics class)—"What's the difference between a cow and a scow?"

Keith (in Arithmetic class)—"There are two fifteen minutes in a half hour."

Ralph (in Geometry)—"Parallel lines are the same distance all the way and do not meet unless you bend them."

Helen (in Sewing club)—"I can't see any use of cutting this and sewing it back up again."

Reported Missing
Two bottles of glue. Reward for information leading to recovery.

The Sophomores are studying the classic, "Julius Caesar." Carl was reading the part of Caesar. Mr. Payne to Carl—"Alright Caesar, you may stop reading." This was just a case of mistaken identity.

Miss Hawkes—"Doris, what are you doing?"
Doris—"I'm helping Mary."
Miss Hawkes—"Mary, what are you doing?"
Mary—"Nothing!"

You should see Mr. Payne give a demonstration of a girl chewing gum.

We're curious to know who "Patty" is. Perhaps Ralph could tell us if he were not so bashful.

Intermediate School Notes
We are a jolly group of boys and girls in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

The fifth grade is nearly through studying Europe. They have found many strange and interesting things in their study.

Our penmanship papers are showing improvement.

The sixth grade English class wrote friendly letters to one of their classmates, Helen Bader, who has moved to Midland.

We enjoyed a close Arithmetic contest last Friday.

Our fourth grade has drawn some fine maps of the zones and circles. Come and see what we are doing.

Primary School Notes
At present we have an enrollment of thirty-six in the primary room. Two new students enrolled this morning, Reese Cox in the Chart class and Glen Wilcox in the first grade.

This year we have the third grade in the primary room. We are kept quite busy but are glad to have them with us.

Pupils with no tardy or absent mark against them are Helen Charon, Elsie Weaver, Alan Leng, Catherine Ensign, Orole Murphy, Ruby Weaver, Elvora Barber, Grace Harmon, Billy Baun and Shirley Corsaut, with Miss Mary Bender as accompanist.

We were pleased to see so many out to both morning services from Maple Forest and hope to see them every Sunday as long as the weather and roads permit.

KEEP YOUR CAR CLEAN
(By Erwin Greer, President Greer School of Electrical and Automotive Trades, Chicago, Ill.)

The last two or three years have brought a very remarkable development in American body building. The mechanism of the modern motor car has reached an approximate degree of perfection, leaving the manufacturer free to devote more time to increasing the attractiveness of the vehicle.

The present-day American car, as it leaves the factory, is really a thing of beauty with the highly polished surfaces and shiny metal. Naturally this has induced the owner to take more pride in keeping up the appearance of the gasoline steed. The result is that cleaning methods and equipment have greatly advanced over those of a few years back.

The most recent type of body polish is that which is sprayed on the surface with a large sprayer. In using this polish the body must first be thoroughly cleaned with water. If the body surfaces are merely dusty the polish may be sprayed on and then be wiped off with a clean cloth.

After spraying the polish over the surface a piece of cheese cloth is used to wipe off the excess. There is no necessity for vigorous rubbing.

Washing the car is not the casual job some owners seem to imagine. To begin with, the car should be washed immediately after it has been dirty. If mud is allowed to remain on the varnished surface more than a day it is difficult to eradicate it. For the washing, plain water should be used, neither too hot nor too cold, about 50 degrees F., being the proper temperature. A large sponge soaked in clear water and then sopped against the surface so that the water trickles down is best. Never turn stream of water at right pressure on the body.

This will grind the particles of sand and other grit into the varnish to the detriment of the finish. The idea is to float the mud or dirt off the surface.

Soap should never be used on the body except for removing grease or oil spots. A small piece of soft cloth, well covered with castile soap suds, serves very well to remove grease from the panels. The hood should never be washed while it is hot, as this will result in discoloration. In cleaning the radiator send a stream of water from the rear instead of the front, to keep moisture out of the mechanism.

In drying the body, a clean chamois skin should be used, rubbing being done in straight lines. If spots of tar or road oil are found on the body it is best to treat them with salt, butter or kerosene. The butter softens the deposit so that it may be wiped off easily. Kerosene should be applied locally and wiped off in a minute.

Mrs. Homer Turner of Lawton, Michigan, formerly Miss Catherine Cornish, a former teacher, lost her mother recently.

Mrs. E. McCracken visited her mother, J. J. Higgins in Bay City for treatments this week.

Albert Lewis is dealing in young stock. He recently bought a cow, which, in a few days, presented him with twin heifer calves.

The Woman's Missionary society met with Mrs. Albert Lewis. Election of officers was held: Mrs. Wm. Leng, president; Mrs. Earl, secretary; Mrs. E. McCracken, treasurer.

Mrs. Ed Preston and Miss Lola Craven are driving through to Boston where they will meet the former's husband, who will fly through. They will stop at Randall, New York and visit Mrs. Seamore Yates, an old resident of our town twenty-five years ago.

FREDERIC CHURCH NEWS

The Community Aid will serve a Harvest Home Supper, Saturday evening, October 22, in school dining room from 6:00 p. m. until all are served. Everybody welcome, as this supper is being served to help maintain our church. Come and bring your friends. Adults 35c, children 20c.

Our new minister, Rev. Earle, was more than pleased at his large audience at both morning and evening services, and we as church members were also greatly encouraged. Let us keep the good work up, as we know we will be well repaid as we listen to the messages he has to bring each Sunday.

The Sunday School is also growing, there being twenty out to Bible class, and about fifty of the younger folks. This surely must be encouraging to the few who have been faithful all summer.

The little Sunbeam class gave a special exercise which was well rendered. The little ones taking part were: Elvora Barber, Rose Lewis, Caroline Welch, Allen Leng, Grace Harmon, Billy Baun and Shirley Corsaut, with Miss Mary Bender as accompanist.

We were pleased to see so many out to both morning services from Maple Forest and hope to see them every Sunday as long as the weather and roads permit.
